

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. The Indiana laws have improved my time at home with my family and has also lessened the dangers it had on my elderly mother. By not having to continually rush to the phone for a sales or canvassing type call. She has very brittle bones and the fear of her falling has kept me very on edge. I feel we should all be free to choose the type of service we need without the harassments of calling salespeople.

Thank you
